THE TIERRAS VILLAS

Crete, Greece

Five Elements. One Hideaway

Tierras Villas is a collection of five design-led private villas that reinterpret Mediterranean living through a contemporary Cretan lens. Defined by monolithic forms, sculptural geometry and a restrained material palette, the architecture draws from brutalist principles while remaining deeply connected to the island's landscape.

Natural stone, marble textures and handcrafted details create spaces that feel grounded and timeless. Floor-to-ceiling openings dissolve the boundary between interior and exterior, allowing light, shadow and materiality to shape the guest experience.

Embracing restraint rather than embellishment, the design language relies on a palette of pale stone, raw woods and earthy tones. Structural walls follow the contours of the hillside through long horizontal lines, framing views of the sea and surrounding landscape. Each villa features sculpted marble kitchens, bamboo fixtures, private pools and expansive outdoor living areas. Adjacent to Tierras, guests enjoy access to the culinary, wellness and recreational facilities of Acro Suites and Seaside Resort, including five restaurants, the Asana Yoga pavilions for wellness experiences, two spa concepts and a tennis club.
